

Has The Whole World Come Undone?

Words and Music © Abi Moore (MCPS- PRS)

When all of our heroes are junkies and our music is practically porn,
When politicians are glorified flunkies- who will stand up for us all?
Celebrities sell their own babies to the highest- bidding magazines
And all of the fashionable ladies diet into size zero jeans
I'm speaking out for the children I've not yet conceived
And where will they learn their values- from the world or me?

Has the whole world come undone?
Has the whole world come undone?
Has the whole world come undone tonight?

Why does my bank always tell me that my savings will come to no harm,
When they're responsible for the production of thousands of foreign arms?
We hear of injustice daily in a country that nobody knows
Cos all of our stations are playing the same old reality shows
We'd rather vote for the cabaret star of the year
Than vote for a leader to free our country of fear.

Has the whole world come undone?
Has the whole world come undone?
Has the whole world come undone tonight?

Look at the scientists cloning humans- they can surely invent a new fuel?
But where is the oil baron's profit in energy renewal?
Look at the planet's percentage of water – why do people die from thirst?
And all the junk that we eat over Christmas could feed the whole damn earth
How can I fight this when no one is on my side?
When they are called upon, they choose to run and hide

Has the whole world come undone?
Has the whole world come undone?
Has the whole world come undone tonight?

Are we all done asking questions? Have we finished demanding the truth?
And is caring for our generation just something we used to do?
Humans have so many rights now we don't know what constitutes wrong
Conversation becomes compensation if we can pass all the blame along
Our children are learning to live and to die by the knife
But this ain't no video game, now they kill in real life

Has the whole world come undone?
Has the whole world come undone?
Has the whole world come undone tonight?
